Who am I/why Data Science?

As a recent Maths and Physics (BSc) graduate, I wanted a career that would allow me to not only use the knowledge and skills (technical and theoretical) that I picked up at university and through self-study, but also one that has a communicative aspect to it as well. This, along with the fact that I find Data Science much more interesting, is the reason I chose this career path as opposed to something like Software Development.

Education
